CHARGING & REMISSIONS

BASIC PRINCIPLES

- All schools must provide free education for their registered students, provided it takes place wholly or mainly during school hours.
- School hours are those when a school is actually in session but not including mid-day break.
- Under certain circumstances, a third party may charge parents / carers directly for activities organised in school hours.
- Charging is permitted for education provided out of school hours, unless it is required to fulfil a prescribed public examination, is within the requirements of the National Curriculum or to fulfil statutory duties relating to religious education when only charges for board, lodging or residential trips can be made.
- Governors can choose to remit charges in whole or part.
- Voluntary contributions may be requested for any activity, provided it is clear that there is no obligation to contribute and that there will be no differentiations between those who contribute and those who do not.
- Rednock is an Extended School and we look to encourage use of the school by students, staff and external providers.
