

PARENT & CARER WORKSHOP / TRAINING

Monday 20th February 12pm – 2pm BEST HUB (NW9 5FN)

‘Maintaining High Expectations for Children and Young People with SEND’

Overview

This training was delivered to schools at the November SENCO conference and will be now delivered to Barnet parents and carers (Monday February 20th). The aim of the session is to highlight the importance of ‘high expectations for all’ with a focus on children / young people (C/YP) with SEND.

High expectations for every child, does not involve having the same expectation of every child. The session focuses on the importance of maintaining high expectations of each C/YP with SEND by understanding and building on their individual strengths.

It is widely accepted that having high expectations for each child is effective teaching practice and research demonstrates that children achieve better outcomes in relation to resilience, achievement, motivation and self-belief.

The training will be delivered by Philip Stock (Head of Specialist Inclusion Services and Principal Educational Psychologist in Barnet) and can be accessed at no cost by Barnet parents and carers.

The session will last for two hours (12pm – 2pm) and will aim to be an interactive session that raises the profile of high expectations, refers to relevant research, highlights positive strategies and encourages questions to be posed throughout.
