

Home School Diary

The children have had another fantastic week. We were very impressed with their transition from half days to full days. The children have taken it in their stride. I know they have enjoyed staying for their lunch too. It has been a fabulous start to their adventure at school.

We have been getting to know our new friends this week and finding out more about each other.

We have also been starting to develop our hand strength and fine motor skills, ready for writing. The children have enjoyed doing the dancing for our dough disco.

We have also started phonics this week. The children have learnt m, a, s, d and t. They have been practising these sounds and using them to Fred Talk (sound out) words and even read some simple words. Amazing work.

Home task

For this week's home task, we would like you to help us continue to learn about each other. Please ask/help your child to take a selfie with their favourite toy at home.

Next week we will be thinking about people who help us in school, as well as starting to learn all about the number 1.

We can't wait. Have a lovely weekend.
