Home School Diary

So... has anyone guessed the topic this week? I was of course Cinderella. We've had a lovely week talking about the story and thinking about how the story is made up, the characters, good and bad, the setting, and the problems and solutions in the story. We have used tales toolkits prompts to help us with this. The children have loved acting out the story and have been linking the story to our 'celebrations' topic.

We have also been writing invitations. Next Thursday we will be having a ball, we would like to ask children to come to school earing their fancy party clothes and we will be celebrating the topic by dancing and making cakes.

We have also been very busy using the junk modelling to make castles and coaches, the children have loved doing this, so if you have any used boxes (cereal boxes etc) that would have gone into the blue bin, please bring them to school for the children use in their modelling.

We have started to learn all about number 5 this week too. The children are really getting to grips with the mastering numbers and have a deeper understanding of the number because we spend longer focusing on one number at a time.

As we have been talking more about celebrations this week, we'd love to see some photos of the children at a celebration. Please feel free to upload these on tapestry. This could be a wedding, birthday, Christmas party or any other time you have celebrated. We will then chat about these in class.

We are continuing with Cinderella next week, but we will be putting up our Christmas decorations on Wednesday and starting to feel festive. Look out for texts about the nativity that the children will be preforming in during the last week of term.

Have a lovely weekend.
