

Home School Diary

This week has been amazing. I think one of my favourite weeks yet! On Monday the children were very excited about their train ride. We discussed how to keep safe whilst on the trip and thought about the things we might see. The first thing the children did when we left the carpet in the morning was build a train in the garden. These children told me they were working in the ticket office for the train.

We also did some fabulous maths activities in the garden on Monday. The children were making 8 using different number bonds. Its great to see how much they remember from their lessons then use in the independent activities.

Of course, our school trip was incredible. It was the best trip I've ever been on, and the children were amazing. From waiting for the bus, to getting on the train, then interacting with the animals. The children loved it and their smiling (yet tired) faces at the end of the day told me what a good time they had too.

Keep an eye out on the blog for the full story of the trip.

For your home task this week we'd like you to think about the different fruit that you eat at home and decide which is your child's favourite.
