

Today Mrs Silverwood showed us how we could create our very own pictures of The Little Red Hen.

First of all, we had to paint circles to create the body and head, then we used oil pastels to add details, finally we glued on real feathers for its wing. We think they're fantastic!

The children used so many skills. They had to listen carefully to instructions, think about shapes, use control and coordination to paint and draw. They had to make decisions as to which colours they would choose to use for the beak, crown and legs, then use their fine motor skills to carefully select the fluffy feathers and try not to get too sticky as they glued them into place for the hen's wing. A great job well done!
