

When Blake saw the different coloured paints he said we might be going to paint a rainbow. It was a lovely idea but we had different thoughts!

A butterfly!

But, a very special type of butterfly. We looked at how you could paint just one side of your butterfly, then fold your paper in half to print the second wing. The results were quite beautiful and the children loved seeing their magical butterflies appear...

Lottie was one of the first to have a go. She carefully painted one beautiful, multi coloured wing, folded her paper in half, peeled back the paper and there it was...

...a beautiful butterfly!
