

Science jokes to make you smile

Why didn't the skeleton cross the road?

He didn't have the guts.

How do scientists freshen their breath?

With experi-mints.

How do spacemen kill time on long trips?

They play astronauts and crosses.

What did the tree wear to the pool party?

Swimming trunks.

How did Benjamin Franklin feel after discovering electricity?

Shocked!

How do you cut the sea in half?

With a sea-saw.

How does the moon cut his hair?

Eclipse it.

If you're thinking about telescopes for a hobby you should look into it!

How much room does fungi need to grow?

As mushroom as possible.

HA!

LOL

FUNNY!

I could tell you a science joke but all the good ones ARGON!

I heard that oxygen and Magnesium were dating and I was like:

I read a book on Helium.

I couldn't put it down.

We hope we made some of you smile some broad, happy, science smiles.

Have a great day

From 'The Science Council'.