

Accessibility Plan Northern Counties School

This access report addresses the requirements of the Disability Discrimination act (DDA) 1995 and includes 'where reasonable' recommendations for remedial works along with other actions that will help meet the requirements of the Act and aid people with disabilities to access the services provided by the Percy Hedley Foundation. It is acknowledged that some desired modifications could not be completed due to the structure and design of the building.

The audit gives an indication of the problems that are present at the time of the review, and highlights actions that can be carried out to improve the situation and improve the accessibility of the building for all people.

Conclusion

Northern Counties School is an old building and therefore not ideal in design. However, it requires relatively little in terms of modification to fulfil the terms of the Disability Discrimination Act. Many original features have complicated the layout of the classrooms etc. including the limited ground floor area leading to areas for children with physical impairment who need to use a lift for access to the classroom. To attempt to rectify this would be impractical and the costs deemed unreasonable. Some small modifications to improve external pathway access and visual alarms throughout the building can be completed in the near future.

Advice has been provided on areas where there is need for updating and modification including improving outdoor signage. Costings included in this report are approximate. This report reflects the schools intention to comply with legislation as far as is reasonably practicable bearing in mind the intractable geographical difficulties of the site.

The table below gives a brief indication of the areas to be addressed in order to improve the level of compliance to the law and has included a suggested set of priorities; however there is no clear legislative guidance to indicate a time limit. Work will be included in the maintenance schedule.
