My name is Khadra, I am a mother of five, deeply passionate about my children's education. I am committed to working with the school and fellow parents to strengthen the relationship between the school, the community, and families. I believe that collaboration and open communication are essential to creating a supportive environment where all children can thrive.

I joined CAG in 2023 when my children were still fairly new to the school, and I wanted to become more involved to build a positive and supportive relationship with the school community. Being part of CAG has given me the opportunity to take part and have my say on topics that are important to me, such as RSE & Family Dining.

I would encourage parents to join CAG, as it is a valuable opportunity to work closely with the school and build stronger relationships. Being a CAG member allows you to be more involved in school life, share your views on what truly matters to parents and scholars, and collaborate effectively.
