Special Consideration & Access Arrangements

Dear Parent / Carer

This year, the Joint Council for Qualifications (JCQ) have modified the process for special consideration applications. They have widened the list of things that might lead to special consideration being awarded, in response to the pandemic, and they have also asked parents and students to raise requests for special considerations with schools before the submission of the teacher assessed grade.

We are writing to you today to explain this process, and to give you the opportunity to make special consideration applications.

Mitigating circumstances/special consideration:

Special consideration recognises students that may have been affected by a potentially wide range of difficulties which may have influenced their performance in their assessments. Examples of special circumstances include:

- temporary illness or accident/injury at the time of the assessment.
- bereavement at the time of the assessment
- domestic crisis arising at the time of the assessment.
- serious disturbance during an examination, particularly where recorded material is being used.
- accidental events at the time of the assessment such as being given the wrong paper, being given a defective examination paper or CD, failure of practical equipment, failure of materials to arrive on time.
- participation in sporting events, training camps or other events at an international level at the time of the assessment e.g. representing their country at an international level in chess or football.

Further examples of what is and what is not considered as special circumstances can be found here. Please note that the examples stated above refer to guidance that was produced before the announcement that exams were not to take place, we have shared them with you to provide some examples of special consideration.

COVID Related Disruption:

In addition to the usual definition of special circumstances the JCQ has asked that parents make centres aware when they believe that their child has faced additional disruption to their teaching and learning as a result of COVID 19, in comparison to their class/cohort peers. We already have information about COVID related absences and therefore you do not need to inform us about these.

How have centres been instructed to deal with special circumstances?

This year grades will be based on a holistic, objective judgement of the evidence of the students' performance on the subject content they have been taught. Centres will consider the quality of students' work in relation to the assessments they have sat as well as considering the grade descriptors and grading exemplification the JCQ have made available. Where a student has identified that their performance in one of their assessments has been affected by special circumstances the JCQ has indicated that centres either:

- A. Use the assessment evidence when assigning a grade on the basis that it is the most appropriate evidence available but disregard the assessment if it would disadvantage the student.

OR

- B. Use alternative evidence to replace an assessment that is appropriately representative of individual students' performance.

In other words, the JCQ has instructed centres to adjust the evidence that students' grades are based on rather than adjust the grades of the students.

You will also be aware that the JCQ and Ofqual have said that more recent evidence is likely to be more representative of student performance. We are providing students with a final opportunity to demonstrate their current performance in the assessments in May. It is therefore more likely that in cases of special circumstances we will choose to disregard the affected assessments if they disadvantage a student.

How do I inform the school if I believe my child should receive special consideration?

Please follow this link to complete the special consideration form:

All submissions must be made by 4pm on May 14th in order that we have time to process requests and inform staff before our final grading begins.

In order to avoid the need for additional follow-up calls we will be asking you to provide the following information.

- Details of the category (as indicated above) which you believe the special circumstances correspond to.
- Specific details of how the special circumstances affected your child's performance.
- The dates between which the assessments you believe were affected occurred.
- The subjects and the specific assessment that you believe were affected.

Any issues you wish to alert us to about any of the May assessments should be emailed directly to exams@brookvalegroby.com.

Access Arrangements/Reasonable Adjustments:

If your child qualifies for access arrangements or reasonable adjustments for SEND you do not need to complete the form above. We already know if these apply to your child. The JCQ publication Access Arrangements and Reasonable Adjustments provides further detailed information.

Please be assured that we continue to work with the guidance provided by the JCQ to ensure that we are able to award grades that are fair and reflect very carefully considered judgements of performance across a range of appropriate evidence for all our individual students.

Thank you for your help and support as we continue to support you and your child with this process over the coming weeks.

Kind Regards

Carol Hubbard
