LGBTQ+HISTORY MONTH

The History of the Pride Flag

The white, pink and light blue are there to represent the transgender community.

The original colours of the flag. Created by Gilbert Baker in 1977 and inspired by the song "Somewhere over the Rainbow" from the Wizard of Oz.

The black and brown sections come from the Philadelphia Pride Flag and are used to represent LGBTQ+ people of colour.

What's happening in 2022?

2022 sees the 50th anniversary of the first Pride March in the UK in 1972.

A popular slogan of the early 'gay rights movement' of the time (before our current understanding of the LGBT+ community developed) was 'the personal is political', and art is probably the most individual of pastimes.

So this year the focus is on how LGBT+ people are represented in art, with the theme 'Politics In Art'.

This LGBT History Month 2022 recognise the creativity, imagination and innovation of LGBTQ+ creators throughout history. It celebrates the many achievements and contributions of LGBTQ+ artists. In the fight for equality, art has served as an emotive communicator, a representation of the LGBTQ+ community's struggles against homophobia.

The subtitle for the theme is 'The arc is long', which refers to a phrase often used by civil rights activist Dr Martin Luther King Jr: 'The arc of the moral universe is long but it bends towards justice'.

The anniversary of the first UK
Pride march is one on a continuing and often winding journey towards full equality, which has suffered many setbacks while still moving forward. This quote echoes that.

LGBTQ+HISTORY @ BGLC

Our History

In November 2020 our first groups met in bubbles, we called this the LGBTQ+ Working Party.

We're aiming to achieve the Stonewall Bronze Award. Why does this matter?

- 45% of lesbian, gay, bi, and trans young people have experienced homophobic, biphobic or transphobic bullying
- One in three trans pupils are not able to be known by their preferred name at school
- 64% of trans pupils are bullied at school for being trans

We've created a section on our website dedicated to our LGBTQ+ community.

We've identified key dates to celebrate and raise awareness.

We've purchased the Pride Rainbow Flag which flies in the month of July.

We're challenging discrimination with pink slips for inappropriate language.

Below is a timetable of meetings located in G49 and G50 for KS3 and KS4 students, and for P16 students:

87
Day	Year Group	Room	Staff supervisor
Wednesday	KS3	G49		Vicki Varney
Wednesday	KS4	G50		Ruth Goddard
Wednesday	Post 16	Post 16 Silent Study		Gemma Smith

Why do we celebrate here at BGLC?

Encourage inclusivity and understanding in the workplace

Remember those across the world who live without rights

Learn about historical LGBTQ+ figures and events

Build a better world for young LGBTQ+ professionals

Remember how far we have come in the fight for equality

Fundraising

February bake sale

Bulletin items each day to show you all some inspirational LGBTQ+ individuals.

By hosting a Stonewall fundraising event, you can campaign for equality, increase awareness and change hearts and minds in your school and community. These aren't just words — the impact you have will be crucial.

£5 means we can be there to answer a call from a young LGBT person through our free information service.

£25 can send five packs to teachers around Britain, to help give them the skills to tackle homophobic, biphobic, and transphobic bullying in their school.

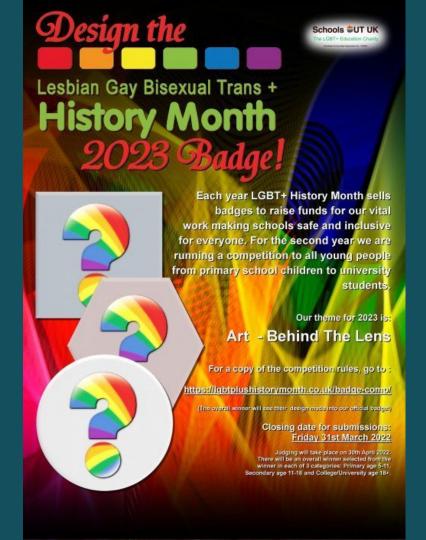

£50 could fund an LGBT role model to visit a school, tackling negative attitudes head on and helping young people to accept LGBT people without exception. £100 would allow us to cover the cost of one young person in a hard to reach area to attend a Stonewall Youth Pride event and meet other LGBT young people.

£250 could support one years' worth of costs for Stonewall to meet with MPs, institutions and other stakeholders to lobby them around the Gender Recognition Act (GRA).

£500 Could cover the cost of one young person to attend our annual Young Campaigners programme, a five-day residential programme for 16-21 year-old LGBT people to support them to develop campaigns on LGBT issues in their local community.

£1,500 would allow us to bring international activists to the UK, exchanging knowledge and sharing the most effective campaigning tactics to help improve the lives of LGBT people around the world.
