The Tutor Time Reading Programme for YEAR 11

Every morning, between 9 and 9.10, Y11 students will listen to their tutor reading from a number of brilliant books. The books have been chosen to encourage the students to read for both pleasure and progress and our tutors will be great role models every day. The titles are a mixture of new and classic, fiction and non-fiction - and cover a range of genres.

As we move through the year, this page will fill with information about the books and about the ways in which families can get the most out of the amazing writing from a range of award-winning authors.

Remember that you can help your daughters and sons get the most out of their reading by

- Asking them about the book
- Reading it too
- Making connections between the book and your family's experiences
- Talking about the inspirational books and writers that have had an impact on you and your family

Happy reading!

Cover	Title and author	Summary	Term
	Touching the Void by Joe Simpson 	This is an account of a near-fatal climb of the Siula Grande in Peru. Joe suffers a terrible accident on the descent and his climbing partner has to make an agonising decision. The story follows the successful climb, as well as the awful experience Joe has to endure in order to stay alive and get himself to safety.	Autumn 22
