Careers Guidance	History is one of the most popular A-Level subjects in the country, attracting students studying a wide range of other subjects. Many of these students enjoy the subject so much they eventually choose a History-related degree course. Others go on to careers in Law, Politics, Sociology, Psychology, Journalism, Anthropology, Architecture, Marketing, Accountancy and PR. The skills you use at A-Level History are valuable for prospective employers or students. Evaluating evidence, detecting bias and propaganda and then thinking about and organising your thoughts and ideas are important sophisticated skills. Communicating your ideas clearly and concisely are the basic tools for any student.
