

History Curriculum Key Stage 4

Vision

GCSE History enables students to discover what came before, understand how it has shaped the present and helps to develop their skills to shape the future. It also provides students with opportunities to investigate global and local histories. Life-long skills honed during GCSE History equip the 21st century student, especially when evaluating sources and interpretations to read between the lines. Moreover, regular testing of skills such as public speaking, presenting research and debating opinions mean the course develops transferable skills to take into the workplace in the future. The subject moulds global citizens who will eventually be equipped with the skills to thrive within a demanding and diverse 21st century.
