Marsden Beach

there is also a horse painted in white on a Jagged cliff or hill

Marsden beach had a big rock in front of the sea but it ended up collapsing because of so much erosion. there is a Marsden grotto owned by Terry Maughan. Another part is Marsden inn which was built in 1939 on the beach is an old cannon with ~~a~~ a protection barrier.

The Harton coal company embarked on a scheme to almost completely electrify their collieries both above and below the ground including the network of lines connecting the collieries at St. Hilda, Harton and Benthouse (Westoe). The railway was named after a passenger service run privately for miners by the HCC between West Lane station and Whitburn colliery.

they the 20th century is much different from the 19th because more pits are closed so are some ports and there is much more tourism than there was in the 19th century and the rattle was a working train but now it is a pub and diner and it also changed its name to platform 33 for some reason there actually was not any tourism in the year 1900 but there is lots in the year 2000 to 2020 and they have stopped using lots of other stuff than row boats to trains. there is also more golf clubs and soon and there is a fair with sick, games, rides, crazy houses and much more.

the different clubs are archery, rugby, football golf and much more. There are also car factories and sweet factories all over the world and there is also museums which have all the stuff from the 1900s.

Landmarks

Some landmarks are the white horse, marden rock, heebles, cleadon windmill and cleadon water tower

1900 industry

mines and ports were used all the time in 1900 ports had ships built and used all the time. and there were trains built just for the miners in the mine a train for example is usually the rather

most mines and ports ~~are~~ are closed and all new stuff opened like the and game and more shops and fact and it is much different ~~at~~ than 1900 industry and there also different clothes
