

Freedom of Information Policy at Hadrian School

INTRODUCTION

On 1st January 2005 the Freedom of Information (FOI) Act came into force. This has had implications for the way in which the Compass Trust and Hadrian School deals with all the requests for information that they receive. This policy provides guidance on what you need to look out for if school receives a request or enquiries for information, and how to respond to such requests.

The Act places two requirements on Hadrian School:

To publish a 'Publication Scheme'. This provides details of all the different types of information that we publish (that is, any information that we make available to the public without them having to ask for it). It also provides details of how you can access each type of information. Our publication scheme is available on the Local Authority Intranet on the FOI site.

To provide a general right of access to information produced or held by Hadrian School. This covers:

- Any recorded information that the Hadrian School hold, in whatever format (written; electronic; audio; video)
- Information provided by others (e.g. application forms; planning applications; contracts and tenders)
- Requests from any individual for information under the Act – they do not have to be a resident of this country, and requests can come from individuals, companies and organisations.
- The request does not have to refer to the FOI Act – as long as it is a request for information we have to consider it under the Act
- The School have 20 working days (4 weeks) to deal with the request.
- The School retains a lot of confidential and sensitive information. The Act does allow the School to refuse to disclose this type of information in many circumstances.

Several types of requests can be made –

- Verbal requests: The FOI Act says that all requests should be in writing. However, requests for information about the environment are handled under a different piece of legislation which says that they can be verbal. However, if you do receive a verbal request, it may avoid misunderstanding at a later stage if you ask the requester to put it in writing.

- Information that the Council publishes: Most of these requests will be covered by the Council's Publication Scheme, and so you should advise the requester how he/she can get the information by referring to the scheme (the web address is given above). There will also be some information that is published that is not included in the publication scheme – deal with the request there and then if you have a copy of the information or you know where to get it.
- Information in a public register: The Council is required by law to make certain information available for public inspection (e.g. electoral roll; planning applications; registered taxi drivers). All these are listed in the Publication Scheme with details of how people can access the information.
- Enquiries from the media: Enquiries from the press and other media should be passed immediately on to the Press Office.
- Requests from Councillors: You should pass these on to your manager as soon as possible.
- Complaints: These should be dealt with according to the Council's Corporate Complaints Procedure.
- Requests for the personal information of the requester: Where someone wants to see some or all of the personal information that the Council holds about them (e.g. Social Services file; Staff Personnel File; Library Borrower Record), the request is handled under the Data Protection Act not the FOI Act. These requests should be passed to your Data Protection Liaison Officer.
- NB – Requests for someone else's personal information is not handled under the Data Protection Act. These should be passed to your FOI Monitoring Officer.
- Requests for information held by 'Your Homes Newcastle (YHN)': Although it is not classed as a public authority, it holds information on behalf of the Council for many of its functions, as the Council is required by law to carry these out.

In this respect, YHN is acting on behalf of the Council, and the information held is disclosable to an FOI request received by the Council. This covers the following functions:

- Management of the Housing Revenue Account
- Management of the Council's housing stock
- Management of individual tenancies

Where you receive a request for information which may be held by YHN, this should be passed to the FOI Monitoring Officer in the Strategic Housing Division in the Regeneration Directorate.

- Requests for information that we do not hold : Where the Council does not hold the information and you know who does, you should give the requester as much information as you can as to how they should proceed.
- ‘Normal business’ requests: There are many requests that you receive all the time and could be called your ‘normal business’. You should continue to deal with these in line with your normal procedures. You and your manager will know what is ‘normal business’ for your section.

Some of the types of request that will come in this category are:

- Location and opening times of Council offices and facilities
- Dates of Council and other public meetings
- Copies of Council agendas, reports and minutes
- Contact details for Councillors and key staff
- Lists of staff vacancies
- Information leaflets
- Publicity leaflets and posters
- Application forms
- Newsletters and bulletins
- Citylife
- Press releases
- Guides to Council services
- Publications for sale
- Catalogues of publications for sale, and of library stock.

Other requests for information not covered by any of the above categories:

Any request which does not fall into one of the categories above should be passed as soon as possible to your FOI Monitoring Officer.

Multiple requests: You need to be aware that a request can include more than one of the categories above. For instance, someone could be complaining about the way their application for a service was handled by the Council, requesting some of their personal information and also the Council’s policy on dealing with the type of application they made. Each of the three parts to this request will need to be considered separately, sometimes by separate officers. If in doubt about a complex request, talk to your manager, or your Division’s FOI Monitoring Officer.

Will there be a cost involved?

Newcastle City Council will deal with most requests free of charge. However, if the request takes us more than 18 hours to satisfy, we may make a charge. We may also charge you for the cost of copying, printing, postage or translating the information where this is significant. We will tell you about any charges before we start work on your request. The same charges will apply to requests for environmental information.

The City Council does not make a charge for satisfying a subject access request under the Data Protection Act 1998.

How quickly will I get the information?

We will normally respond to your request within 4 weeks. However, if it is a very complex or extensive request we may need to take longer. If this is the case, we will let you know.

What can I do if I am not happy with the Council's decision on my request?

If you are not happy with the outcome of your request, you can make a complaint through the City Council's Complaints Procedure. If you are still not happy after you have exhausted the Council's Complaints Procedure, you can write to the Information Commissioner. We will provide you details of how to complain when we respond to your request.

Where can I get further information?

The Information Commissioner is charged with ensuring that all public authorities comply with the Freedom of Information and Data Protection Acts. Their website provides a lot of background information and guidance on these two pieces of legislation. You can find them at: www.informationcommissioner.gov.uk ; you can also phone them at 01625 545700.

The Department for Constitutional Affairs is the Government Department with overall responsibility for Freedom of Information. You can find useful information on the Act on their website at: www.foi.gov.uk.

If you need advice on making an FOI request to Newcastle City Council, you can contact the City Council's Freedom of information Officer by e-mail at:

freedomofinformation@newcastle.gov.uk or by phoning 0191 277 7038.
