

Are you Learning From Home Because Your Bubble Has Closed?

Start of the day - what I need to know and do

- School still starts at 8.30 (So make sure those alarms are set and you are up and ready to go)
- You must be logged on through your coaching Google Classroom and ready to join the Google Meet with your coach to check in with you daily. (Room register will be taken when you sign on)
- Your coach will provide you with any information you need for the day.
- This will be done through the question/chat section of the meeting – your coach will not be visible on the camera.
- Coaching resources will be uploaded on Class Charts daily.

Just because you are at home it is really important that you continue with your school work. Don't start losing that routine - no late nights and lie ins. It is still a school day for you and we are here to help you.

The rules of online learning – THESE MUST BE FOLLOWED

We expect the same standards of behaviour during live lessons, as we would in school. Any inappropriate behaviour will be logged and appropriate sanctions will be applied when you return to school.

They are not to be shared with anyone else.

They must not be recorded, uploaded, shared or subject to comment (via screenshot).

Make sure your microphone and video are off.

You should only ask questions to your teacher, nobody else in the group.

Anyone found to be breaking any of these will be dealt with appropriately.

Completing my work and lessons

Written tasks/Independent Learning

These will continue to be uploaded on a Monday – instructions via Class Charts and this will direct you to the correct platform to use for that subject.

You should attempt to complete all tasks set by the subject/teacher.

We advise you follow your normal timetable and complete work for this subject at this time

At your normal lesson time your class teacher will be online to answer questions at that time if you are stuck. Please send them via class charts messenger.

We understand there is a lot of work on Class Charts, as it is to mirror school work on a normal day. Please do not worry if it appears a little overwhelming. We are here to help.

What if we go off half way through the week?

To ensure work is available all work is set on a Monday. This means if a learner goes off through the week they will not be expected to complete all the work set on the year group remote learning homework. They should pick up the work from where they left off in class.
