Lucy Coleby - Community Governor

I became a community governor at Kingsway in 2023.

I have lived in Leicester most of my life and have two children at primary school, and my husband who works as a behaviour manager in a secondary school.

I'm a civil servant working in policy and strategy development for technical education, and I previously worked at a university for 13 years in business and community engagement.

I wanted to join the board of Governors so I could learn more about primary school education and support the progress and development of a local school. My interests include the wellbeing and welfare of all children and staff alongside the importance of an inclusive and nurturing academic education.

I believe learning is a lifelong journey, and I have a keen interest in supporting all children to get the best start to learning, so that they can thrive and succeed in their future.
