

Murray Park School is committed to a policy of equality and aims to ensure that no member of the school community is treated less favourably on grounds of the key protected factors including: sexual orientation, race, age, disability, gender (or gender reassignment), marriage/pregnancy or religious belief. These grounds for potential discrimination are outlined in The Equality Act 2010. In delivering a broad and balanced curriculum, Murray Park school recognises its duty under the Equality Act (2010):

- Not to discriminate against disabled pupils in their admissions and exclusions, and provision of education and associated services
- Not to treat disabled pupils less favourably
- To take reasonable steps to avoid putting disabled pupils at a substantial disadvantage
- The school provides all pupils with a broad and balanced curriculum, differentiated and reasonable adjustments made in order to ensure we meet the individual needs of our pupils and their preferred learning styles.
- Consultation to take place with outside agencies to ensure provision is appropriate
- Offer a broad and balanced curriculum
- Ensure fair access to examinations by administering access arrangement testing and making applications to the Joint Council for qualifications where appropriate
