Dear Parent/Carer,

You will be aware that use of Educational Technologies (Edtech) is increasingly important to us here at Duke's as we look to take advantage of the benefits this provides in supporting high quality teaching and learning, communication and in preparation for further study, higher education and the workplace.

I am sharing with you a list of the platforms, apps and websites that are frequently used across the curriculum and in individual subjects for your information.

Could I please ask you to support your student in being able to access Edtech learning resources and opportunities by reinforcing the importance of having a fully charged Chromebook with them at all times in school? Chromebooks should also be carried in the protective cover that was provided, and when carried in school bags or rucksacks, that they should be in separate compartments to drink bottles.

Parents and carers are reminded that they have free access to resources to support their children with safe internet use, including social media and other frequently used applications through National Online Safety, which is part of the National College.

To sign up to this resource, please visit this link and select 'parent'. This will create an account from where you will be able to access a wide range of online safety resources and guides.
