1. ETHOS

We recognise that effective careers guidance contributes to raising aspirations, improving motivation and overcoming barriers to success. The careers programme at Rokeby School is committed to delivering high quality Careers Education, Information, Advice and Guidance (CEIAG) by ensuring students make effective and informed decisions about their future through greater self-awareness, career exploration, supported and independent career management, work related learning and a step into work programme that develops employability skills.

Rokeby endeavours to follow the National Framework for Careers Guidance and Inspiration in Schools (March 2015).

For the purpose of this policy the following definitions have been used:

Information – Information is data on opportunities conveyed through different media, both mediated and unmediated including face-to-face contact (individual, group, class etc.), written/printed matter, telephone help lines, ICT software, websites, etc.

Advice – This involves helping a young person to understand and interpret information as well as providing information and answers to questions and clarify misunderstandings; to assist them to understand their circumstances, their abilities and targets; and advise them on their options or how to go about a given course of action; to identify needs and to signpost and refer young people who may need more in depth guidance and support. Advisory work is usually provided on a one-to-one basis but may also be provided in small or class groups.

Guidance – Guidance aims to support young people to better understand themselves and their needs; to confront barriers to understanding, learning and progression; to resolve issues and conflicts and to support them to develop new perspectives and solutions to problems and be able to better manage their lives and achieve their potential. Guidance may also involve advocacy on behalf of some young people and referral for specialist guidance and support. This involves more in-depth one-to-one work conducted by staff trained and competent in guidance work. Guidance usually involves the exploration of young people's circumstances – their ideas, values, needs and beliefs in relation to opportunities or issues that are confronting or confusing them.

2. AIMS

The school aims to prepare all students for their futures by providing independent information, advice and guidance, thus ensuring successful progression to Further and/or Higher Education, training and work, including apprenticeships. Our model for CEIAG is based on the following objectives that underpin the quality of our provision in school, which is informed by the Association for Careers Education and Guidance (ACEG) Framework for Careers and Work-Related Education:-

1. Developing students' self-awareness: a greater understanding of their strengths, current limitations, personal qualities, interests and values through guided teacher/careers adviser activities with students;
2. Encouraging and supporting career exploration and research through curriculum-based classroom/group work activities, one-to-one guidance interviews, interactive careers media and online tools, access to a comprehensive careers information library and resources and taking part in registration presentations.
3. Providing work related learning and increased exposure to a range of life-long learning and career opportunities in order to enable students to make effective decisions about their future;
4. Developing skills and professional ethics to meet the demands of a changing work environment;
5. By embedding all of the above, increasing students' confidence and skills in managing their career journey, including any transition points from secondary education to further/higher education and entry to work or apprenticeships.
6. Providing a safe environment for students to ask questions and develop their understanding of post-16 opportunities. All external facilitators are DBS checked before arrival. Facilitators are accompanied by a Rokeby staff member when on site, and are informed of our school's safeguarding and child protection protocols
