

In Memory of Geoff Abbott

Geoff Abbott loved music, theatre, dance and song. His passion for the performing arts knew no bounds. He was educated in a school very similar to this one, where his talent was developed and given expression. He took the lead in most of the school productions and in the sixth form and applied to several Drama/Theatre schools before eventually winning a place at Guildford School of Acting. Three years later he graduated with the Musical Theatre Award.

Sadly, he died suddenly, just before his fiftieth birthday. This award is given in honour of Geoff, his dedication and talent, and is offered as an inspiration to all who wish to follow their dreams.

Geoff's many credits include Joseph, Starlight Express, Perfectly Frank, Robert & Elizabeth, Charlie Girl, Matador, Candide, La Boheme, Piaf, Some Enchanting Evening, Cats, Aspects of Love, Martin Guerre, Lust, The Beggar's Opera, Anthony & Cleopatra. He has performed in in most of London's West End theatres, toured with the RSC, has worked with Andrew Lloyd Weber, Cameron Mackintosh, he enjoyed many TV appearances and was a regular guest on Songs from the Shows for Radio 2. He was even flown out by Andrew Lloyd Weber to Madrid where he sang with Sarah Brightman, before the King of Spain & President George Bush.
